

Topic: Are you new to start an Essay? Get to know more about the Essay Types

Essay writing is an art and not everyone is an artist. When it comes to essay writing, one should be literate enough to understand that essay writing is a single genre and there are different types of essays that one can be asked to write on. One of the easiest ways of writing an essay is to consult any essay help. Such services will help you get your task done without any hustle and tension.

Once I had to get my task done within a short deadline, because I was engaged in a family commitment. So, I consulted one of the essay writing services to do my papers. The professionals not only completed my task within the deadline but I was able to get a good score as well. As consulting essay writing services is a good option, one should treat it as an option because there is no skill that can hit or compete with self-initiative.

I am going to share some simple tricks that can help you get a simple answer to one of the most commonly asked question i.e. do my essay. All you need to do is, follow the below mentioned points

1- Understand the type of essay

Before writing an essay you should understand the type of essay that you are asked to write. Generally, there are four types of essay, descriptive essay, argumentative essay, persuasive essay and expository essay.

In a descriptive essay, you should paint a picture with words. It means you should collect a set of facts and features about the given topic.

For argumentative essay, you need to discuss ideas either in favor or against the topic. It requires you to develop the stance and then prove the stance by consulting different credible high quality papers

In order to write a persuasive essay, you need to take a stance and then prove that stance by collecting a set of facts and figures. In this essay, you need to convince the readers about the ideas that you have mentioned.

For writing an expository essay you should explore a topic and collect the ideas that can add to the knowledge of your readers. It is one of the most rarely assigned type of how much is an essay

2- Follow standard essay writing format

While writing an essay, you should follow a five paragraph format. Your essay should have an introduction section, three body paragraphs and a conclusion section.

3- Write a thesis statement

While writing an essay, you should make sure to write a thesis statement. It is more like a crux of the essay that helps your readers know what your stance in the essay is or what is the main idea that you want to assert, explain or prove in the help i need to write an essay

4- Cite your sources

Never forget to cite sources in the essay. As you are supposed to write rephrased content, the original source should be cited. It will not only help to reduce and avoid plagiarism but it also helps to make your essay EssayHours

5- Proofread and edit your work

One of the important tasks in essay writing is to proofread and edit your work. Proofreading means to look for all the typo errors or other language or grammatical errors that can affect the quality of your work. You can use grammar checking tools to eradicate all the errors. Another option is, you can ask someone else to give your essay a reading. It will also help to correct all the mistakes, both grammar as well as language errors.